Background	As Uwalaka Ugochukwu Chris, I have a strong passion for crop farming, enjoying every step from planting to harvest. It gives me a deep sense of fulfillment to see the crops grow under my care and to be connected with the land. In addition to farming, I'm currently exploring data analytics, where I dive into analyzing data, uncovering insights, and making informed decisions based on trends and patterns. Both of these interests allow me to blend hands-on work with analytical thinking, giving me a balance of working with nature and technology.
